OUR PRESIDENT

PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Greetings:

As this year has progressed it has become increasingly apparent that the word "GROWTH" is expressive as related to the current campus conditions and activities.

The new Science Hall, Dining Hall and Kitchen and Fine Arts Building represent physical growth. The intellectual attainments and spiritual progress of faculty and student body are less objective but nevertheless evident in many connections—class room, chapel, prayer meetings and personal contacts.

The "WILL TO WIN" is very essential for true progress in any line of endeavor. It is generally recognized as desirable on the part of the athlete. But it is equally useful in the drive behind a student's scheduled study hours.

Many an athletic team has lost its game because of the indifferent or lazy attitude of some player.

Scholastic attainments and honors have likewise been missed by many students with too little of the will to win. Spiritual progress cannot be made by those who are satisfied to drift or content to remain on the low levels of the common place. High achievements in any line are never accidental. They are the result of ambitious planning and hard work, of prayer and perseverance.

To the student body of 1947-1948 I extend congratulations on your youth and opportunities. Your limitations are largely self-imposed as related to the measure of your will to win.

Paul the great apostle wrote—"I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Sincerely,

Gervas A. Carey

DEDICATION

A teacher who smiles . . . a gentleman who tips his hat and remembers to be friendly to all . . . a scholar who has been listed in Oregon's book of honor, "Who's Who" . . . the Sociology prof who recognizes that Sociology isn't the only thing the student must spend time in . . . a "farmer" who owns property out by Springbrook . . . a real neighbor and friend in the Newberg community . . . to you Perry Macy, head of the Pacific College Sociology department, we dedicate this 1948 L'Ami. This dedication comes with sincere best wishes from a grateful student body to an efficient, too-seldom recognized faculty member whose efforts we have all come to appreciate.

IN MEMORIAM

A sobering shock came to Pacific College January 29, 1948. Bruce Armstrong had been killed in an auto accident near Condon, Oregon, on his way home to Idaho.

Memory paints candid shots of Bruce. We see him as a dark-haired freshman bucking the rigors of this new life in college. We see him with the J.V.'s on the basketball floor playing the game with sportsmanship and ability. We see him and his roommate develop their close friendship.

Bruce stayed at Pacific a short time, but he contributed something we can still feel. It is not ours to question why he was taken. Though we see through a glass darkly now, the time will come when we can, as Bruce now is doing, "see Him face to face."

So we pause . . . in memory of Bruce Armstrong, (July 16, 1929-January 29, 1948)—remembered member of P. C. student body.

FORWARD

We present to you the 1948 L'Ami of Pacific College. This signifies that another school year has passed and in its place we have many pleasant memories.

In this publication we have tried to portray our school life in a way to bring back our many varied recollections of campus activities.

Culminating a year completely filled with activity, the L'Ami presents a permanent synopsis of your college year. We hope it accurately reflects your faculty, sports and participation in school functions.

A. S. B. PRESIDENT

Seeking to conform to the policy of the Pacific College Administration, few new student activities were pushed by the student officers this year which would absorb study time. Nevertheless, a few important advances were made. Besides carrying on the normal functions of the student year we purchased a new American flag for our chapel, changed our student body constitution to make it more usable, and sent two delegates to the Pacific Northwest College Congress.

Most outstanding in the administration was the wonderful spirit of cooperation and order with which student business was conducted. May I thank the student body for this and wish them God's guidance for the future, as we have sought it in the past.

Fourteen students taking part in campus activities, but listed as "special" because of the number of semester hours taken are shown above. Several have taken advantage of the commercial department to brush up on the typing and shorthand. The home economics classes have been popular in the special student division, and a few have concentrated on the Bible courses.

Any course is offered to the special student.

DRAMATICS

Termed "tremendously successful" by the audience, the annual student body play, "The Closed Door", was given December 5 and 6. Miss Lucy Clark directed the three-act comedy-drama.

The plot of the play centered around the quarrel between Dr. Winslow, played by Keith Williams, and the family next door. Louise, a blind exceedingly religious girl, portrayed by Gertrude Haworth, prayed daily for the doctor that he might forget past hatred. Arlene Frazier enacted the part of Portia, the practical young lawyer, and the sister of Louise. Roger Winslow was characterized by Wayne Antrim. Housekeeper for the Grays was Ida Arnold (Eleanor Antrim). Celia May was the "beautiful but dumb" young lady, played by Ellen Bain. Stanley Williams was the adventurous young man. Laura Shook was the wealthy widow, Mrs. Langwell. Gladys Engle and Marion Wilhite provided the comedy as Marion Mudge and Izzy Cohen. The passing stranger was Floyd Watson.

GOLD P

Most gigantic Gold 'P' Grade School basketball tournament in its history. That can be the explanation of the Gold 'P' club's foremost accomplishment of the year 1947-48. Won by Willamina Graders, the tourney attracted 15 teams and good-sized crowds all three days and managed to keep all Gold 'P' members and neophytes busy. The Gold 'P' tourney can certainly be remembered as one of the big things of the year. Officers of Gold 'P' for the year were Keith Williams, president; Stan Williams, vice-president; and Norval Hadley, secretary-treasurer. The annual Gold 'P' banquet and initiation week were also club highlights.

KING'S HERALDS QUARTETTE

Especially active in deputation this year was the King's Heralds male quartette, and the Ambassadors (Four Flats) male quartet.

Student ministers devoting time to preaching in the outposts and regular churches visited were Dean Oglevie, Gordon St. George, Glenn Armstrong as well as others. Teams held services at mission stations in Portland part of the year and calls were accepted from numbers of churches.

The King's Heralds held services at Talent, Oregon, during the summer months.

Led by the sincere Christ-centered evangelists, "Daddy" Graves, Oscar Brown and Eugene Coffin, spiritual growth surged upward during the three major revival campaigns held this year.

From Washington came "Daddy" Graves in October. Many lives were changed through his ministry. Oscar Brown of Rosedale held a series of meetings in the spring where definite things were accomplished. Eugene Coffin, a graduate of Pacific, came from California for a few days of concentrated meetings. Again real growth was made.

The Religious Emphasis Weeks were well attended, well planned, and considered well worth the time as students prayed for "P.C. 100% Christian."

The women sportsters of Pacific College were organized under the direction of President Dorothy Barratt, with Francis Haldy assisting her as vice-president, Enid Briggs as secretary and Gladys Engle as treasurer. Mrs. Eleanor Bulgin, women's physical education instructor, sponsored the club.

New basketball warm-ups of blue and gold were purchased this year, besides some new equipment for both major and minor sports. New rules for earning letters in the various sports were outlined this year.

The Women's Athletic Association sponsored Lee Grabel, magician, on April 9th.

Suffering from one of the most depleted treasury departments it has ever had, the Men's Athletic Association, backbone of Pacific college athletics, undertook and carried out a most vigorous program. The MAA for the first time in years set up a system of ticket-selling and program-making for sport events throughout the season. Sport publicity to radio, newspapers and press associations was released regularly throughout the year. Biggest accomplishment for the MAA was the purchasing of additional new equipment for football, new uniforms for baseball and basketball and general planning of a new athletic layout which will be worked on during the coming year. Officers for the past year in MAA were Dave Fendall, president; Jack Martin, secretary; Jack Cadd, treasurer. Vice-president, Connie Cline, transferred to Friends University and did not return to Pacific.

Pacific College Four Flats Win Ballad Contest

FOREST GROVE, Feb. 14.—The Four Flats of Pacific college, Newberg, won the all-Northwest barber shop ballad contest here Friday night for the second straight year.

Second place went to the Harmony Vendors, Tacoma, and third to Agony Four of Oregon State college.

First place winners received $100 in silver, second and third place winners were awarded $75 and $25, respectively. All three participated in a 15-minute broadcast over the Mutual Don Lee network from the stage of the auditorium to more than 40 Pacific coast stations. The broadcast was emceed by Lou Gillette of KALE-The Journal.

A record breaking crowd of more than 1600 persons overflowed the high school auditorium and packed the gymnasium across the street. Quartets and specialty acts shuttled between two buildings giving two shows. An additional 650 persons attended the afternoon eliminations.

Four Flats sang "I Want a Girl" and medley of "I Had a Dream" and "Beautiful Doll." In the quartet are Ronnie Crecelius, lead; Norval Hadley, tenor; Harlow Ankeny, baritone; Dick Cadd, bass.

Harmony Vendors were Fraser Christholm, Paul Newman, Louis Tabenu and Charles Cheney. They sang a medley of "Coney Island Washboard" and "Coney Island Baby" and "Roll the Bones." Oregon State's entry, composed of Robert Blair, Joseph Einvaler, Bill Fropppe and Keith Miller, sang "Take Back That Ring" and "Coney Island Washboard."

BIGGEST GRID TURNOUT

Thirty-five unusually husky Pacific college male students donned football togs the first day of school last September and prepared for what turned out to be one of the most successful gridiron campaigns in the Quakers' history. The Quaker pigskin squad managed to salvage only two wins from their schedule of six games. From the standpoint of relative competition, that fete alone was enough to make a name for themselves.

The turnout was definitely the largest the college had ever witnessed and tended to prove the fact that Pacific college is growing—athletically. Under the direction of Earl Craven, who tripled during the year as husband and father, student, and coach of all athletic teams, the ability-endowed gridsters worked faithfully, played valiantly and brought glory to Pacific.

Recapping the year's scores: October 3—Pacific University JV's, 26, Quakers, 7; October 11—Oregon College of Education, 39, Quakers, 0; October 17—Linfield JV's, 7, Quakers, 0; October 24—Reed, 6, Quakers, 14; November 1—Pacific U. JV's, 0, Quakers, 0; November 11—Reed, 7, Quakers, 12. All games were played on either mud or rain-soaked fields, slowing down what was potentially a very fast backfield.

PLAYS, PLAYERS AND PLAYING . . .

Some outstanding plays, players and playing from Pacific's 1947 football season: Pass—double lateral play in Pacific U. game nets 18 yards a try for three times . . . PU'ers unable to follow it . . . Diminutive Chet Kimbell scampers on intercepted passes along with Jack Cadd in same game . . . Weighty Wolves from OCE dominate play on Quakers' "off night" . . . J. Cadd again shines in pass interception department . . . Two other "mighty mites", Bert Keifer and Ray Warner hit big Wolves hard and low . . . Linfield JV's next . . . Quakers almost score twice with hard line plunges . . . Linfield "touchdown" lacked a foot . . . Fendall shines in pass receiving . . . Ankeny plunges with Warner . . . Hester manhandled by over-anxious Linfield linesman . . . Fullback Ankeny's day at Reed with two long runs to his credit, one for a TD . . . Warner scores on famed pass-lateral affair. Linesmen stand-out both defensively and offensively . . . Fertello hits hard, cracks line on offense . . . Victory bell rings for first time . . . PU comes to town on mud of Newberg high's field . . . Scatback Warner nearly "away" three times during evening . . . PU'ers flabbergasted over scoreless deadlock . . . Reed Homecoming tilt last . . . Warner scores twice in well-earned win . . . injuries infest backfield stars . . . We play on our own weed-strewn field. Center Beaver named "most valuable player" . . . Bob Armstrong continues outstanding punting . . . Bert Keifer selected "honorary captain". Other standouts too numerous to mention . . .

STATISTICAL YARDSTICK

Statistics always prove to be one of the most interesting things in making sport comparisons. Certainly a comparison of the Quakers' and competitors is most needed in appreciating the efforts of the sometimes out-classed Pacific gridsters. So herewith we publish a total statistical yardstick:

... AND WHAT TO EXPECT

Preceding pages have revealed this year's accomplishments on the local gridiron and the question now in most "football" minds is what to expect next year. A hard one to answer, to say the least, but we'll try to make an unofficial guess as to who'll be who on Pacific's gridiron next year.

Probably back for pigskin chores will be such names as Ray Warner, Spud Ankeny, Pete Fertello, Norv Hadley, Allen Hester, Wayne Antrim, Jack Cadd, Dave Fendall, Vern Brightup, Eugene Beaver, Eugene Smith, Bob Armstrong, Dick Beebe and many others. In addition to this list will be many new prospects which usually come in through the channels of the freshman class and those reserves of last fall. Earl Craven, who coached the team this year, will be back in his usual tackle post next year.

Speaking of coaches, George Bales, who is this year attending Springfield College in Springfield, Mass. for further Physical Education training, will be welcomed as the new full-time athletic director at Pacific. All in all, prospects are on the optimistic side for next year.

THEY KEPT THINGS GOING . . .

Coach Earl Craven, right, points out one of his favorite plays to assistant player-coach Pete Fertello. These two students, who took over the job of handling football last fall, will be back again this September when George Bales calls out prospects—but they won't be on the coaching end of it this time. They'll don football togs themselves—set for a rugged season of actual play.

Applying medicine to aching and burning bruises, taping weak ankles and giving rubdowns were only part of the services volunteered by Trainer Jack Martin during the busy football season. Martin is shown below taping the ankle of Dave Fendall, Pacific end. At right is pictured Marvin Barger, capable and hard-working manager of the Quakers. Both of these men deserve much credit for doing their respective jobs with efficiency.

AND IN ONE BIG CROWDED GROUP . . .

ACTION AT REED IN PORTLAND!

BASKETBALL, 1947-48

Heat in Hester Memorial gymnasium was about the first thing to greet the group of 25 basketball prospects which turned out when practice sessions were first called last November. The new gym, which continued to be on the road to completion, had been lying cold and dormant since it was first used in 1946. Due to improvement of basketball facilities on the campus a far greater interest was manifested during the 25-game season, the heaviest slate of games in the college's history. Pacific college remained in its usual role as underdogs to college teams from institutions six times Pacific's size. Although the season proved disastrous, as far as the won-lost column reveals, the winning spirit was still there and the somewhat inexperienced Quaker hoopsters continued to shine in showing true Christian sportsmanship.

HADLEY TOP SCORER . . .

Forward Norval Hadley, junior, a lad who never played basketball before he came to Pacific, topped the Quaker scoring parade for the second straight year. Southpaw Hadley, using what appeared to be an awkward sort of two-handed push-shot and managing to break away for layins throughout the season, led second-place Spud Ankeny by nearly 100 points. Ankeny, who played all three positions during the season, got most of his shots from the key after driving his way that far. Season statistics follow with FG meaning field goals, PF—personal fouls, FT—free throws, and TP—total points:

Name	FG	PF	FT	TP
Hadley, f	108	29	63	289
Ankeny, c	76	55	40	192
Armstrong, f	50	62	40	140

PLAYER PORTRAITS

No. 1—Roger Thompson . . . up from JV squad in midseason . . . tall . . . aggressive . . . steady player . . . young and heavy, but can handle himself fairly well . . . cool-headed lad from Portland.

No. 2—Ernest Stephens . . . tall, but inexperienced . . . should develop into big cog in Quaker defense tactics . . . long and lanky . . . from Bremerton, Washington.

No. 3—Clyde Faber . . . another uncanny dribbler . . . also an Indian . . . from Metlakatla, Alaska . . . push shot artist . . . ranked fourth among scorers . . . good at faking.

No. 4—Clair Smith . . . tall . . . smooth player . . . accurate one-handed push shot from either side . . . is swiftly developing an uncanny hook shot from key . . . should be powerhouse in next year's five.

... BUT HAD THRILLS APLENTY

Season's highlights in brief: Hopeful as season opens . . . players get into swing of things at Lewis and Clark . . . Faber sinks long ones at Linfield . . . Set up big lead but lose to NCC in thriller at home opener . . . Lose two straight to Lower Columbia at Longview, Wash., in launching of court rivalry . . . Friendly St. Martins five comes to town . . . tall "firs" from Lacey, Wash. sweep two game series . . . OCE has hard time brushing past Quakers . . . Unstopped Viking five nearly reaches century mark in "cracker-box gym" at Vanport . . . Reed dumps "off" Quakers . . . Heartbreaking loss to NCC at Eugene . . . trailing 16 points they go ahead at 52-50, but lose in last few moments . . . Hot Vanport whacks Quakers again . . . Seattle Pacific sweeps double-header up north . . . Listless Quakers lose to Pacific JV's . . . OCE bounces to easy win . . . Quakers post one and only win of season—edge Reed 46-42 . . . Next losses go to Nampa Nazarene, and Seattle Pacific crews . . . Two more blasts by St. Martins quint at Olympia . . . but they have a hard time doing it . . . Linfield, Pacific U, and Lewis and Clark finish up Quaker's season with losses . . . Hadley, Ankeny, "bounced" for missing practice . . . Rugged season ends with 24 losses, 1 win.

PLAYER PORTRAITS

No. 5—Allen "Pinkie" Hester . . . up from JV's late in season . . . tall.

No. 6—Raymond Baines . . . the third of the speedy little Indians from the same Alaskan town . . . good dribbler . . . fast . . . tricky passer.

No. 7—Wayne Antrim . . . aggressive . . . fast, steady guard . . . a good team player . . . in on every play . . . known for "never say die" spirit.

No. 8—Eugene Smith . . . his hop-skip-run push shot gets "hot" sometimes . . . excellent passer . . . good team player.

JV'S PACK WINNING PUNCH

Pacific's JV squad dwindled down to the above six toward the end of the season. Left to right, they include: Kenneth Miller, Harold MaGee, Bud Mardock, Coach Pete Fertello, Harlow Ankeny, Ray Warner and Dave Fendall. Not able to be in the picture was Doug Olsen. "Pinkie" Hester also played much of the time for the JV's.

Keeping up the winning spirit of the Pacific college basketball department, the Quaker Jayvee team managed to win seven out of an eighteen-game schedule. Usually playing some of the junior varsity teams of the colleges which the varsity team met, the JV's got to rolling during the middle portion of their season and played teams on even terms from there on out. Saddened by the accidental death of one of their teammates, Bruce Armstrong, who was killed on the way to Idaho, the JV'S came back from their barnstorming Idaho games to win three straight on the Hester court. Several players would "come and go" as far as playing on the team was concerned, but the most steady workers for the two coaches, Clayton Barnes and Pete Fertello, are those pictured above.

"ATHLETIC FUN NIGHT"--'NUFF SAID!

Another "Athletic Nite" was held at Hester gym, climaxing the basketball season. All classes and teams participated including the varsity squads of both men's and women's basketball. In playing array, that which they used against the Gal's Quakerettes, these varsity players are shown at the right. (L. to R.)—C. Smith, R. Armstrong, Thompson, Antrim, Baines, and Faber.

Pacific's 1948 baseball squad, decked out in new uniforms for the first time in many years, posed for an L'Ami photographer just a little more than a month ago. From left they are: (First row)—C. Smith, Fertello, House, E. Smith, W. Mardock, May. (Second)—Hunsperger, Booth, H. Magee, Warner, Kimbell, Harris. (Back row)—R. Armstrong, Cole, G. Hockett, Thompson, H. Ankeny, Stephens and Coach Craven.

BASEBALL ADVANCES

Smith weilds bat

America's national sport of baseball is swiftly becoming one of Pacific's biggest and most successful athletic undertakings. For the past two years under the volunteer part-time coaching of Barney McGrath, baseball's most popular and "in the know" booster in the Newberg community, the Quakers have begun to get on the path back as a baseball-minded school and one which has turned out successful and powerful diamond aggregations during past years.

Although not much can be said in this annual about this year's baseball squad at Pacific, because of L'Ami press-time, it was clearly evident after viewing the first game of the season when they beat Linfield's JV's 9-8, that the Quakers were bound for a season of success. Taking on bigger competition and sporting some big, experienced lads on the first nine, were only a couple of highlights of the 1948 baseball season. Another improvement worthy of mention is the fact that the Quakers were decked out in entirely new uniforms, a gift of the Men's Brotherhood of Portland Quarterly Meeting of Friends churches.

GIRLS' SPORTS PROGRAM

Dorothy Barratt
led scoring

honorary captain.

Under the title of Quakerettes, the girls' basketball team played nine competitive games with the girls' teams of other colleges, and finished with a score of five won and four lost. The starting lineup for nearly all the games was: Forwards, Dorothy Barratt, Gertrude Haworth, and Louise Fivecoat; Guards, Esther Mae Moor, Enid Briggs and Frances Haldy.

Dorothy Barratt led the Quakerettes in scoring with a total of 132 points for the year. She was followed by Gertrude Haworth with 98 and Louise Fivecoat, 65.

Gladys Engle was chosen honorary captain, and Gertrude Haworth acting captain.

Many of the Quaker gals took part in an intramural system of volleyball in the gym and outside during the spring months.

MINOR SPORTS FOR GALS

A girls' softball team was organized this spring in spite of the rain and unfavorable days. Several games were played with other colleges.

Several girls participated in such minor sports as volleyball, badminton, archery and tennis. Some of the minor sports were carried on through the regular physical education program. Mrs. Bulgin and Mr. Lewis offered special instruction in archery and tennis this spring.

Badminton and tennis also drew interest among the girls during the year. Representing badminton are Marjorie Wilson and Twila Jones.

GREENLEAF FRIENDS CHURCH

GREENLEAF, IDAHO

With a membership of over 500, reaching a wide area of this section of productive Canyon County, this church strives to challenge men for Christ.

The large group of fine young people in the Academy, and loyal attendance of a church-conscious community provide an inspiration to service and worship.

It is the ideal of the church that like St. Paul we shall be "determined to know naught among you save Christ—and Him crucified." Dedicated to the maintenance of the true, time-proven ideal of the Society of Friends and their testimony to the world.

The Only Friends Preparatory School West of the Rockies

GREENLEAF FRIENDS ACADEMY GREENLEAF, IDAHO

A fully accredited high school offering a well-rounded academic course plus a Christian atmosphere with teachers who are personally interested in your Christian life.

Emphasis is placed on music, including large chorus groups a cappella choir, sextets, quartets, trios, etc. Private lessons in voice, piano and orchestral instruments.

BEAUTY and UTILITY For the Church

Modernfold Doors enhance the peaceful beauty that is inherent with churches. They harmonize with the reverent atmosphere that only a church knows. Modernfold Doors bring churches needed utility, too. They provide simple, easy room division . . . gives churches added usable space. Churches all over the country are using Modernfold Doors successfully in Sunday School rooms, dining rooms, pastors' studies . . . in many parts of the church proper.
